Details

The high-end Baker manufacturer was inspired by this so refined Biedermeier style and made these chairs with the same attention.

Biedermeier itself was inspired by the Directoire French style which shows that every period gets its inspiration from others.

The furniture was modulated with natural grains, knotholes, or ebonised accents for contrast. These chairs are a good example of these particularities.

The "Baker" tag is under the seats.

These chairs are much more steady than the original old ones.
