The Jonathan Adler Black Lacquer Faux Bamboo Chippendale Chair embodies a contemporary take on Chinoiserie style. Its classic design, finished in a graphic black gloss lacquer, reflects a balanced blend of tradition and modernity.

The chair features an upholstery of Kravet's fabric, a Jonathan Adler exclusive design for the high-end fabric house. The pattern, named Super Nova, shows an offset white circular motif lined up on a teal background. This fabric choice, crafted from 100% linen, complements the chair's dark lacquered frame, adding a touch of sophistication to its overall aesthetic.

A long-standing piece in Adler's furniture line, the recent discontinuation of this chair adds to its exclusivity. Its unique blend of classic form and contemporary details has made it a sought-after piece among admirers of Adler's design.

Jonathan Adler, known for his diverse creative ventures, initially gained recognition in pottery, later expanding into home design. His ability to merge influences from varied sources has set him apart in the design world. Adler's furniture, including this iconic chair, offers a subtle elegance that adapts to different interior styles.
