Details

The beauty and magic of art are that every artist has their unique take on the same subject matter. In this particular case, no other artists would interpret them like that.

This organic painting depicts a close-up of a bench of bamboo, with each delicate stem and intricate knot carefully detailed by the artist using a honey-brown colour spectrum to generate feelings of softness and warmth. The light filtering through creates gentle contrasts and highlights that add depth to the image, while capturing both fragility and strength in perfect harmony.

It's signed Cherubini in the back.
