Details

An elegant blonde walnut dresser by American of Martinsville catches the eye with its twin blocks of drawers resting on a slightly darker base. The designer ingeniously crafted these large dressers for easier maneuverability into smaller rooms. The choice of wood with its large grain, its soft blond hue, and the sculpted wood and brass handles stand out as uncommon features for this manufacturer.

Today, American of Martinsville is celebrated for its craftsmanship as one of the premier manufacturers of mid-century modern furniture in the United States.
