Details

Crafted from blond wood, this midcentury natural credenza blends form and function. The manufacturer's label on the back provides a subtle nod to its origin and quality. Manufactured by Woodland of California, located at the time in Torrance, California, this credenza is a true representation of midcentury craftsmanship.

The credenza features two black-stained sliding doors made in plywood with round chrome hollow handles that reveal a well-designed compartment interior. The juxtaposition of the deep oak wood and the bold Black doors adds a touch of sophistication to the overall design.
