Details

This Mid-Century yellow ceramic lamp with 6 Branches stands on a black wood base. The six ceramic yellow branches gracefully curve upwards, capturing the essence of mid-century design and adding an elegant touch to its overall form.

The lamp's shade made of pig skin features black line patterns that dance across its surface. It is a perfect sample of the 50s shades style with laces finishing the edges. The passage of time created a fine patina on the lamp. The frame inside is rusted, but it wasn't replaced, because it is such a strong testimony of the time period.
