

"Nude in the Green Realm" Sitting Woman
Portrait - Pastel by Louis Nadalini

As low as $750

In stock

SKU

LU825834348182

Details

This artwork features a nude woman seating on the ground with a green background behind her. The woman's large eyes imbue the portrait with an otherworldly quality, hinting at an almost supernatural presence. One might envision her possessing mystical powers derived from her profound connection to the natural surroundings depicted.

The artist's minimalist approach captures femininity's essence without excessive realism. Nadalini employs a nuanced technique within this pastel, juxtaposing delicate, tremulous lines to define elements such as collarbones and cheekbones subtly. The finer details are minimized to capture the essence, offering enough to evoke a feminine presence while leaving the rest to the imagination. In contrast, other features and curves are highlighted. The choice of pastel as a medium adds softness. The subtle shades and delicate transitions of color create a warm atmosphere, inviting the viewer to engage in silent contemplation. By transcending appearances, the artist reminds us that the true essence of a woman lies not only in the contours of her body but also in the emotions she awakens within us.

Louis (Ernest) Nadalini (1927-1995) was a renowned artist known for his abstract paintings and sculptures. Born in San Francisco, California, Nadalini began his artistic journey by attending the Art Students League, where he had the privilege of studying under the guidance of the influential artist George Grosz. Later, he further honed his skills by studying with Martin Baer in San Francisco between 1955 and 1957.

Nadalini's abstract paintings and sculptures throughout his career demonstrated his mastery of form, color, and composition. His artworks often showcased a harmonious balance between geometric precision and a sense of organic fluidity, evoking a unique visual experience for the audience. Louis Nadalini's contributions to the art world left an indelible mark on the artistic landscape. His experimentation with painted relief and his ability to create visually captivating compositions established him as a noteworthy artist, and his works continue to inspire and resonate with art enthusiasts to this day.

REFERENCE NUMBER: LU825834348182

PERIOD: Late 20th Century

CONDITION: Excellent

MEASUREMENTS: Height: 24.5" Width: 21.25" Depth: 1.5"

COUNT: 1

MATERIAL: Paper

CREATOR: Louis Nadalini

COUNTRY OF ORIGIN: United States