Details

These white Formica and Lucite Side Tables blend modern aesthetics with industrial charm. The formica looks so much like lacquer that thought it was.

Crafted with precision, the tables showcase exposed screws, creating a striking appeal. The clear lucite of the round knobs and the side panels provide a subtle contrast to the white Formica which is a dream to maintain clean. The tops are almost square, giving a good surface to place a lamp and what you use every night.

The combination of materials creates an elegant and contemporary harmony, while the two drawers offer practical storage solutions.
