Details

This monoprint signed Eduard Franz, titled "Tumblers and White Horse," is a 1973 artist's proof. The print is signed and titled in pencil by the artist at the bottom. The artwork showcases a semi-abstract composition featuring a black-outlined horse and a red rider, potentially a gymnast in a falling or acrobatic state. The artwork's density stems from the interplay of colours and forms, with the horse appearing in pristine white that blends with the white background. The background is composed of three parts: Earth in yellow ochre, Energy in white, and Sky and Heaven in blue. The minimalistic black lines depict a galloping posture, adding motion and dynamism to the piece. The scene exudes abundant energy through its minimalist figurative forms, nestled within a world of abstraction and inherent mysteries.
